Re.: Postponement of the Mock Trading Session – Globex-to-GTS Order Routing Test.

We hereby inform you that the mock trading session to test the system of order routing from the CME Group to BM&FBOVESPA, or Globex → GTS routing, which was initially scheduled for September 13, 2008, pursuant to External Communication 038/2008-DP, of September 5, 2008, has been postponed to September 20, 2008 (Saturday).

This postponement is due to the passage of hurricane Ike through the United States of America, which may cause some CME Group markets – notably the energy markets – to open on September 13, 2008, thereby preventing the mock trading session from being held on the same date.

The institutions that are interested in participating in the mock trading session must confirm their participation by no later than 6:00 pm (Brasília time) on September 18, 2008. In addition, they must register, until September 19, 2008, (i) the required participant information through the Participant Registration (CP) system, and (ii) the required trading limit configurations through the GTSLiNe, as described in item 2 of External Communication 038/2008-DP. Concerning the mock trading session to be held on September 20, 2008, all the remaining guidelines and rules set forth in External Communication 038/2008-DP will remain valid and unchanged.

Further information may be obtained from the BM&FBOVESPA Control Center by the following e-mail address: centrodecontrole@bmf.com.br.
